The seven Community Capitals are: Financial Capital • Political Capital • Social Capital • Human Capital. While economic development in a community is important, you cannot use it as the sole measure, or indicator, of your community's quality of life. The problem is, it is perhaps the easiest component of quality of life to measure. With this guide, however, and the example reports on the UWEX CCED website, you, too, can use indicators from all components of quality of life to assess ...
